MAY INSPECT THE BOOKS.

Mrs. Fleischmann to Get an Accounting of Her Late Husband's Business. NEW YORK, April 16 .- Justice Lawrence, in the Supreme Court, to-day granted the application of Mrs. Johanna Fleischmann, widow of the late Maximilian Fleischmann the chler of the Fleischmann brothers, who have made millions out of yeast and dis tilleries, to permit her lawyers to inspect the books of the firm, in the suit brought by her and her children for an accounting of the business since 1890, when her husband died.

The suit is brought against the sons of Charles Fleischmann, who died recently, leaving property worth $7,000,000. One of them. Julius, was a week ago elected mayor of Cincinnati, in which city the books required are. Maximilian Fleischmann named his wife as his executrix and his brother Charles as his executor and required that the partnership be continued and that the relations between his family and that of his brother should always be amicable Mrs. Fleischmann alleged that Charles schmann, soon after her husband's death, began efforts to obtain possession of the whole business and induced her to sign several papers which turned out to releases of her interest in the good will and profits of the business. The defendants opposed the motion on five grounds all of which Justice Lawrence says are untenable. One of them was that Mrs. Fleischmann had lost her right to sue on account of laches, and that her suit could not be maintained.

Justice Lawrence holds that the substance of the complaint is that the plaintiffs as beneficiaries under the will of their father, have been defrauded of their rights by reason of the acts of and agreements btained by their uncle by his representations and by taking advantage of ignorce of his sister-in-law on these matters. He further states that even if Mrs. Fleischmann acquiesced in the releases after being fully apprised of the facts and that aged sixty-eight years. there was no concealment practiced on her by Charles Fleischmann, the answer put The case will be brought to trial in a few

ANTI-LYNCHING LAW VALID.

Important Decision by the Supreme Court of Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., April 16 .- The Supreme Court to-day declared the anti-lynching law constitutional. The law provides that the heirs of any person who is lynched may collect $5,000 from the commissioners in the county in which the affair occurs. The decision was rendered in the cases of Clark Mitchell, hanged by a mob at Urbana, and J. W. Caldwell, who was sho and beaten by strikers at Cleveland.

The present law was drawn by Albion W. Tourgee, the celebrated jurist and novelist. A former law was declared unconstitutional because it fixed a specific unt that could be recovered as lamages. The Tourgee law simply fixes a maximum of damages that may be colected, $500 in case of slight injury, $1,000 case of serious injury and $5,000 in case the death of the victim results. The decision in the Caldwell case is a most important one. Caldwell took the place of one of the men who went out on strike at the Brown was assaulted by strikers, being hit on the head with a glass insulator and shot in the not afford him the proper protection and One American was wounded. The Supreme Court reverses both the lower courts. The court holds that allegations in Caldwell's petition are not negatived by the specific averments that the plaintiff was struck by "a heavy glass insulator thrown at him by one of the mob," and that he was "shot through the leg with a leaden bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of some of the mob.

An Oleomargarine Case.

COLUMBUS, O., April 16.-The syllabus of the Supreme Court in the case of the Capital City Dairy Company, which was ousted from its charter for violation of the law prohibiting the coloring of oleomargarine in imitation of butter was handed down to-day. The court says: "The police power of the State is properly exercised in the prevention of deception in the sale the scope of this power to regulate the manufacture and sale of articles of food, even though the right to manufacture and sell such articles is a natural right guaranteed by the Constitution. Where the manner of conducting a business which the tate's charter gives power to a company to conduct as a corporation, is in disregard and defiance of the laws of the State relating to that business, an abuse of the power results, and quo warranto may perly be invoked to stop the abuse and. if the abuse be flagrant, to oust the cor-

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PRINCETON, Ind., April 16.-Frank Purcell, nineteen years old, is on trial here for the murder of Rufo Ross, eighteen years old, at Augusta, Pike county, on Jan. 13. The case was called in the Circuit Court this afternoon on change of venue and the jury was impaneled. Deputy prosecutor Curll, of Pike county, made the opening statement. There are fourteen lawyers acting as counsel. Purcell lives in Washington, Ind., and comes from a leading family. Last January he was working at Augusta. Rufo Ross had a party and did not invite him. He went to Ross's house, called him outside and shot him dead. The trial will last several days.

Unusual Criminal Case.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., April 16.-The Clark Circuit Court convened here to-day, and on the criminal docket is one case which is attracting widespread attention. The last grand jury indicted J. B. Lewman, a young farmer, for perjury, because he has filed an affidavit for a change of venue in a civil case in which he was interested. With one exception this is the first case on record in the State in which the right of a defendant to ask for a change of venue has been questioned. The other case was in the Floyd Circuit Court, where Franklin P. Watts, former treasurer of Crawford county, was indicted for a similar offense When the Watts case was called for trial the defendants were ready, but the prosecution, for some reason, was not, and Judge Utz announced that the case had been "stricken from the trial docket." Watts was confident of acquittal. Judge Utz, who was the chief prosecuting witness against Watts, announced that he would this county will be bitterly contested and the defendant expects to be acquitted.

Mrs. Hasenfuss on Trial Again.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FT. WAYNE, Ind., April 16.-The second trial of Mrs. Martha Hasenfuss, for the murder of Carl Westenfield, began to-day in the Circuit Court. She is accused of poisoning Westenfield, who was seventyfive years old, and wealthy, to get control of his money. The first trial, last December, resulted in a jury disagreement. Today was spent in selecting a jury.

A BUSINESS QUARREL.

A Complaint for Damages and an Application for Injunction. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., April 16.-On Saturday the First National Bank of Montpelier opened its doors to the public for the first time. The officers of the concern are C. Q. Shule, president; H. B. Smith, vice president; D. A. Bryson, cashier; L. E. Maddox, assistant cashier, and J. F. Jones, bookkeeper.

This morning in the Blackford Circuit Court William M. Page, of Montpeller, filed a complaint against the bank. David A. Bryson and Thomas C. Neal for $10,000 damages for violation of a contract made by them and for an injunction preventing Messrs. Bryson and Neal from engaging in the banking business. The complaint alleges that from 1896 to 1898 the Farmers' Deposit Bank of Montpelier, of which the plaintiff was then and is now a stockholder, and the Bank of Montpelier, owned by A. Bryson and D. A. Walmer, of which Thomas C. Neal was then a stockholder, bought the business and assets of the Bank of Montpelier, including its good will, and at the same time Messrs. The Latter Propose to Maintain Prices in the Indiana Field.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 16 .- Indiana operators who attended the secret meeting of ten or twelve Indiana and Illinois coal operators in Chicago say the press report that the meeting was for the purpose of advancing the price of coal now that the wages scale had been signed in Indiana, the last of the interstate agreement states to do so, was misleading. The meeting was held for the purpose of completing the agreement by which the operators of the competing fields in the two States should maintain prices at all events. The price of coal advanced April 1 from 25 to 40 cents a ton, making a uniform price of $1.30 and $1.40, according to quality, the price being that at the mine. No further advance has been made, and the operators say none is likely to be made for sometime. The meeting of the dozen operators just held was a representative one of about sixty operators agreement was reached, that no trust has been formed, and that all that is to be said is that the operators intend to sell coal at a profit and not cut prices and sell at a loss. To maintain prices it may be necessary to take precautions not to ship a surplus supply into the market and to avoid this it will be necessary at times to limit the output.

The truth about the powder situation in the Indiana field, which caused the three weeks' disagreement and suspension of mining that came to an end to-day, is that the trust has won the fight by using the miners to force customers of the Indiana Powder Company, the new independent plant near here, owned by a half dozen operators, to deal with the trust.

Mr. five wells were sunk by inexperienced Davis was in Pretoria about the time Mr. vaal officials had already heard of the new consul's sojourn in London, had been informed that he had placed himself in communication with the Foreign Office there and had actually had an interview with Lord Salisbury. They had been further informed that, after his appointment, Mr. Hay had held a three hours' conference Burroughs, secretary; Lottie Low, treas- with John Hay Hammond, convicted of urer; Fay Gosnell, assistant treasurer; high treason against the Transvaal government, and now an active campaigner

It was at this stage of the case of Consul Hay, according to the Journal's Washington correspondent, that State Secretary Reitz took the assistant secretary of the interior into his confidence.

"See here, Davis," said Reitz: "it will never do for us to receive this young man and admit him to the confidential relations to which he is entitled as American consul. With the impressions which he must have received in London in consultation with our enemies it would be suicidal. We would be harboring an emissary of Great Britain in our midst."

This was the status of affairs when Davis took up young Hay's case. He persuaded Secretary Reitz to receive him, partly because he wished to avoid any possibility of offending the American secretary of state, and partly because he trusted to the impressions young Hay would Boers to convert him into a friend of the republics. On the plea made by Davis young Hay escaped the humiliation of being sent home as persona nongrata.
